Public

During the preparation of this specific plan, a number of residents, business owners, and interested persons joined in to provide insight into the opportunities, challenges, and solutions they felt should be included in the plan. This input played a significant role in formulating a plan that met the needs of the community in a way that could be supported and implemented.

The City and its consulting team would like to provide a special thanks to the individuals and groups who participated in the development of this plan.
